Mrs. J. G. Minard fell down the cellar stairs at her house last week. She was rendered insensible by the fall, but no bones were broken.

E. B. Dickinson has purchased the Charles C. Cross place on the East Hill and will move onto it Feb. 1st and rent his place on Court street.

Miss Ada J. Sherburne submits the following report of the upper village school which closed last week: Herman, Jessie and Walter Davis, Louis and Florence Denmore and Herbert Elmer were present every day of the term and all but the latter had no tardy marks. Carrie Sleeper was absent but one-half day, and Ray Sanborn but one day.

Charles C. Locke, a long-time resident of this town, died Sunday night after an extended illness. Mr. Locke's age was 88 years and 10 months. The funeral services were held Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Farnham returned Saturday, the 9th, from their carriage drive from Washington across the state of New Hampshire to Mt. Vernon and Belgrade, Me., their native towns, having driven some 500 miles and visited many of the most noted features of the White Mountain scenery and some of the more peaceful but not less lovely lake and river scenery in the state of Maine.

The following are the names and addresses of those drawn to serve as petit jurors at the coming December term of Orange county court: Bradford, A. Carlos Fulton, Byron W. Rowell; Braintree, Aldis S. Titus; Williamstown, Leslie D. Gale, Herbert L. Platt.

Brookfield.

Call before the supply is exhausted and get a 25 cent toilet soap for 10c. at Evans' Pharmacy.

Albert Jenness and family have moved to Northfield.

Mrs. Mitchell, Mr. Heath's daughter, returned to her home in Massachusetts last week.

The members of the grange are specially requested to be present at the meeting tomorrow (Friday) evening.

J. W. Parmenter of Waterbury is visiting his daughter, Mrs. George Sprague, and other friends in town.

What was the matter with our beautiful rain last Friday and Saturday? It took cold to be in the fashion.

Leon Ditty has gone to work for Walter Howard in the blacksmith shop during the busy season of the next few weeks.

Mr. Schroeder's people, who have occupied the Raymond cottage during the summer, left for New York last Monday.

Hubert Smith, from the Bangor Theological seminary, is visiting at the home of his brother, George Smith of this place.

Dana Freeman expects to go soon to Felchville, where he will work in a chair factory. His family will remain here for the present.

News was received recently of the death of M. Charles Freeman at Claremont, N. H. Charles Freeman is a son of Loren Freeman and is well known to many Brookfield people.

The Ladies' Aid society will give a chicken pie supper at the Second church parlors this (Thursday) evening. Friends are asked to bring in sheaves and other fruits of the harvest for decorating the rooms.

Mrs. Mary Smith, who has been in poor health for a long time, fell in her room recently and injured her side and limb, so that she is now confined to the bed. A fracture was feared, but it is now hoped that it is not so serious.

Mrs. Annette Griswold, who attended the S. S. convention at St. Johnsbury, read her report to the school of the Second church, and subsequently, on the same day, to the school of the First church. It was both an interesting and instructive paper.

Corrugated steel roofing is becoming quite the fashion. Ladd is putting some upon his store building. Crane has completed covering his gristmill with it and using it for some of his other buildings, and George and Herbert Mason have roofed some of their premises with it.

The circular conference met at East Brookfield last Tuesday and was largely attended. The sermon in the morning was preached by Rev. J. A. Bates of Randolph Center, and in the afternoon an interesting and lively discussion on the work of our churches was participated in by many.

On account of the rain last Friday, the competitive speaking of the Good Templars' lodge was postponed until Monday evening. At the latter date, the weather being favorable, the attendance was large and the program was carried out as advertised. The speakers were John Stone, Minnie Clarke, Arthur Flint, Edith Peck, Charlie Bigelow and Bessie Durkee. All did excellently. The judges, who were Rev. C. H. Morse, Mrs. Price and Miss Hattie Mason, gave the first mention to Charlie Bigelow of the gentlemen speakers, and to Bessie Durkee of the lady speakers.

(From Another Source.)

Moses Collins has sold his farm and moved to the Whiting place in the village. Royal Abbott is quite low and his recovery is quite doubtful, as he has been in poor health for some time.
